The Equality Act 2010 legally protects individuals from discrimination within and outside of the workplace. The Equality Act outlines the following “protected characteristics”:

- age
- gender reassignment
- being married or in a civil partnership
- being pregnant or on maternity leave
- Disability
- race including colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin
- religion or belief
- sex
- sexual orientation.

This document consists of various external links, tools and guidance relating to SEXUAL ORIENTATION. The tools here have been collated to help the reader learn more about this area. Please refer to the Psychological Professions Network South East (PPN SE) website for further Equality, Diversity and Inclusion resources.

There has been limited research into sexuality in relation to psychology training opportunities, however the LGBTQ+ are underrepresented on clinical training (Turpin & Coleman, 2010).

Likewise, there remains limited guidance for Psychological Wellbeing Practitioners (PWPs) regarding sexual diversity training and approaching sexual orientation within therapeutic work (Laville, 2020).

A study conducted in the US found that LGBTQ+ Clinical Psychology students were more likely to be told to not discuss personal information (including sexual orientation) than heterosexual, cis-gender students during the admission process (Hsueh et al., 2020).

Prompts for having meaningful conversations (Sensoy & DiAngelo, 2014):

- I’m really nervous/scared/uncomfortable to say [X], but . . .
- From my experience/perspective as [identity], . . .
- I’m afraid I may offend someone, and please let me know if I do, but . . .
- It feels risky to say [X], but . . .
- I’m not sure if this will make any sense, but . . .
- I just felt something shift in the room. I’m wondering if anyone else did . . .
- It seems like some people may have had a reaction to that. Can you help me understand why?
- Can you help me understand whether what I’m thinking right now might be problematic?
- This is what I understand you to be saying:. . . Is that accurate?
- I’ve been wondering about how we are using [term] in this discussion . . .
- I have always heard that [X]. What are your thoughts on that?
- The author is arguing that only [e.g., men can be sexist]. Can you help me understand that?
- Is [X] a good example of what the author was saying?
- How would you respond to [X] from a social justice framework?
- I am having a “yeah, but” moment. Can you help me work through it?
- Given the reality of inequitable power, would it be better if . . .?
- How does [X] effect relationships between [Y] and [Z]?
- What is another example of [X]?
- This perspective is new to me, but I’m wondering if it is accurate to say that . . .?
